Paris Is A Bitch -- A Rain/Delilah Short Story (A John Rain Novel) By Barry Eisler

For most couples, a quiet dinner for two at Auberge de la Reine Blanche on the Ile Saint Louis would be just the thing to smooth out the complications in a romance. But for gorgeous Mossad operative Delilah and trying-to-retire contract killer John Rain, nothing is ever easy, and when Rain sees a crew of hard-looking men setting up outside the restaurant, he realizes someone has been bringing her work home with her. Is it a hit -- or something even worse? When it comes to killing, business and pleasure is the most dangerous mix of all.

Includes an essay called Personal Safety Tips from Assassin John Rain, which contains information that will be at least as valuable to civilians as it has been to Rain.

This story is approximately 8500 words -- the equivalent of about 35 paper pages. It is a short story, not a novel.

Editorial Review

From the Author

I get a lot of questions about when these short stories take place among the various novels I've written. The short answer is, it doesn't really matter -- everything I write is designed to be read as a standalone story. But for anyone who's still concerned about mapping out a timeline, Paris is a Bitch takes place somewhere between the events of The Killer Ascendant and The Detachment. Enjoy.

About the Author
