de Gruchy's Clinical Haematology in Medical Practice By Frank Firkin, C. Chesterman, D. Penington, B. Rush

This book has been highly successful ever since it was first published in 1958. Emphasis throughout is placed on diagnosis and management, with particular stress on clinical problems as they confront the practitioner. The new fifth edition has been completely revised and updated to take account of important recent developments such as AIDS, lymphomas and leukaemias, and in order to contain the length, some sections of the book have been condensed.

Editorial Review

Review

"Although this book is clearly orientated to bedside problems, it never fails to explain the usefulness and limitations of laboratory investigations. Such a book is probably needed even more now than it was in 1958 and ... this edition will continue to fill the need admirably ... it remains the best haematology reference for the general physician" British Medical Journal
