Naples Daily News January 12, 2012

When she turned 80, Levin began researching retirement communities. Packed with useful data for retirees currently wondering what to do next, "Ready or Not Here I Come!" is a guidebook for making lifestyle changes. The book stresses knowing what choices are available, instead of waiting until a crisis and then being forced to make a quick decision that isn't necessarily right. The guide helps readers know when the time has come to make a change, and what questions to ask about themselves and retirement communities. It tells what niche communities are available around the country, along with pros and cons about the various communities.

From the Author

As a lifelong educator research has been my field. After writing "Make New Friends Live Longer" I gave talks and seminars around the country. Many seniors told me that they needed help in finding the best retirement community. "Ready or Not Here I Come!" gives you the questions you need to ask yourself as well as the community you are considering.

From the Inside Flap

I know what you're thinking. "I'm not that old." You know what? Some of the 78 million baby boomers are thinking about a retirement community, and most aren't on social security yet. Questions to ask: How will I know when it's the right time? How do I make the right choice? What questions must I ask?
